LECTURER:

Predrag Groza Attorney-at-Law

Predrag Groza is one of the partners in Tomić Sindjelić Groza (TSG) Law Office, whose portfolio includes provision of legal services related to public procurement to local and international clients. The clients acting as bidders in public procurement procedures are advised by Predrag Groza about issues such as contents of tender documentation, activities related to modifications of tender documentation, preparation of bids (particularly in cases of foreign bidders). He also represents the clients in proceedings for the protection of bidders' rights before the contracting authorities or the Republic Commission for Protection of Rights, as well as in administrative disputes, mostly in the capacity of an interested party in disputes triggered by actions filed by dissatisfied bidders.

He has gained experience in tenders and public procurement ever since the time the public procurement procedures were being introduced into Serbia, in 2002, when the first law on public procurement was adopted (which came into force on 1 January 2003). Between 2003 and 2006, he was employed at publicly-owned company Jat Airways as a legal officer and took part in public procurement as a member of tender commissions. He was directly involved in preparing and implementing the entire public procurement procedure, from drafting tender documents, through bid opening, selection of bidders, all the way to the awarding of contracts. This insider knowledge and experience in public procurement lent his work deep understanding of the process and an invaluable angle when, almost a decade ago, he joined the Bar and our team of lawyers.
